MY BRITISH COUNCIL TALE

The British Council Bangladesh's Tell Your Tale Contest

The name British Council always reminds me of quality education. They have been successfully providing educational services to the ambitious students who either dream about going abroad for higher studies or want to update themselves with quality English. Getting a good band score in IELTS is the prerequisite for enrolling into world-famous universities and it is the British Council which has made the prospect so convenient for everyone by offering exclusive IELTS preparation course within a reasonable fee and, at the same time, conducting the IELTS exam and ensuring the world-class standard. Every year the British Council arranges UK Education Fair in Bangladesh which brings all the top-ranked UK Universities and their representatives on the same platform. By attending such fairs, students can come to know about the essential facts about available courses, tuition fees, sponsorship issues and visa application procedures easily.

As a student of ACCA I am totally dependent on the British Council because they have the authority for conducting ACCA exams in Bangladesh. Even when I was a student of Heriot-Watt University, all my exams were conducted by the British Council on behalf of my university. That assistance has helped me to become a UK University Graduate. I can still remember my first visit to the British Council. I went there for my ACCA Computer Based Exam (CBE) registration. There was every reason to be pleased with their service. I was firmly welcomed and provided with the required information. I was cordially assisted by the staff while filling up the exam registration form. Since then I went to the British Council for many different purposes. I hardly miss the UK Education Fairs and UK Education Open Days arranged by the British Council because I am planning to go to the UK to complete my MBA. Every time I join these events, I find some new and exclusive information regarding education and lifestyle in UK. Those knowledge-seekers who never visited the British Council Library missed a great opportunity to update themselves by accessing the exclusive books which are available there.

Undoubtedly it can be said that the British Council is more than an educational institution where people from all walks in life with different thoughts, ideas and cultures are welcomed. Most importantly, the British Council is operated by an efficient staff and highly-qualified teachers who will never let you down with their services and teachings. Quality services bring customer satisfaction. The British Council has been dealing with quality for last six decades and that's what made them stand out from the crowd.

I would like to request every prospective learners and knowledge seekers to be a part of the British Council. They are ready to give you the best and it is your duty to seize those opportunities and to shape your career and future in a better way. At the end of the day it is you who will be awarded.
